

Abstract

A power amplifier matching circuit is provided. The matching circuit includes a ferro-electric tunable component. A control signal is applied to the tunable
5 component, changing the component's impedance. This changes the impedance of the matching circuit.